

32.

I saw one spot of blood on floor near box. I saw a basin in the room. Examined it - no blood.

There was a shorter wooden box in room. A leather waist band with marks on it - cannot say of blood - apparently grease.

Lot of woman's clothing in the house and a woman's hat.

Re-examined. I had no doubt floor of the back room had been washed.

By the court. There was a nail in the wall, - a pretty strong nail, - between door and the head of bed, - but it was eight feet 4 inches up and a woman could not reach it. There were two chairs in room. I examined it (the nail) to see if any marks on it. There was a small piece of string on it and it and nail both white washed over, when wall whitewashed. Quite satisfied nothing suspended from it. I saw nothing that a woman could have hung herself from. The bed an ordinary
